

COURSE UNIT (MODULE) DESCRIPTION

Course unit (module) title	Code
Culture and Multilingualism / Kultūra ir daugiakalbystė

Academic staff	Core academic unit(s)
Coordinating: Prof. Dr. Roma Kriaučiūnienė	Faculty of Philology
Other:	Institute of Foreign Languages

Study cycle	Type of the course unit
1st cycle	Optional

Mode of delivery	Semester or period when it is delivered	Language of instruction
Interactive lectures and seminars	5 th semester	English

Requisites
Prerequisites:	Co-requisites (if relevant):
Contemporary English (I/V, II/V, III/V, IV/V)	None

Number of ECTS credits allocated	Student's workload (total)	Contact hours	Individual work
5	133	32	101

Purpose of the course unit

To familiarize students with central concepts of culture and multilingualism and to develop:

General competencies: competence of critical thinking for analysing and reflecting on the knowledge gained and relating it to problem-solving situations; competence of autonomous learning;

Subject competencies: linguistic competence; intercultural communicative and moral-democratic competencies in a multicultural world; understanding of the notion of multilingualism, language policies, and plurilingual language competence.

competence.
Learning outcomes of the course unit	Teaching and learning methods	Assessment methods
Upon the successful completion of this	Active learning methods: interactive	Accumulative assessment and course, the student will:	lecture including brainstorming, group	written examination.
<ul> <li>develop comprehension about culture, and the relationship between culture and communication; raise awareness of the importance of intercultural communication;</li> <li>gain knowledge about cultural values and raise awareness of ethical issues in intercultural communication, develop the ability to make moral judgements in multicultural environments;</li> </ul>	discussion, designing situational cases to be solved, and team research project presentations.  Students' reflection to evaluate the learning environment, analysis of one's academic achievements, and improvement of academic knowledge and skills.  Traditional methods: illustration of a	Student's active participation during classes is assessed; testing (open-ended and closed-ended tasks) and team research project preparation and presentation, academic essay writing methods are applied.
- perceive theoretical and practical implications of the phenomenon of	lecture by demonstrating audio and video material, narration, problem-
multilingualism, be able to distinguish	solving discussion, synthesis, and
between mon-, bi-, and multilingualism,	analysis of scientific literature.
and understand the notion of plurilingual

language competence and pluricluturalism;
- obtain basic knowledge about the way multilingual acquire and process their languages; interact and use multilingual practices to construct/articulate their cultural identities;
- increase the awareness of the language policy in multilingual contexts;
- develop an understanding of the role of education in maintaining and fostering multilingualism, the relationship between multilingualism and migration;
- gain knowledge about multilingual interaction in global contexts and virtual communication;
- communicate and cooperate with all the participants of the study process, work in pairs and teams; guide fellow students effectively; and plan and undertake future-orientated learning tasks.

			Co	ntact	hours	S		Indi	vidual work: time and assignments
Content	Lectures	Tutorials	Seminars	Workshops	Laboratory work	Internship	Contact hours, total	Individual work	Tasks for individual work
1. Introduction to the Course. Culture and communication across cultures . The nature of culture, dimensions of communication, and the needs and benefits of intercultural communication.	2		2				4	10	Reading and analysing research articles meant for theoretical preparation; doing
2. Ethical issues in intercultural communication. The cultural context, value orientations, and ethical judgments in multicultural environments.	2		2				4	10	practical analytical tasks to deal with problematic issues, participating in
3. Moral-democratic education in a multicultural world. Moral-democratic competence to promote democratic citizenship, social cohesion, and intercultural dialogue.	2		2				4	10	KMDD discussions; preparing research projects and delivering team presentations on the analysed issues in
4. Multilingualism . Mono-, bi-, and multilingualism. Plurilingual competence. Language acquisition, production, interaction, and use of multilingual practices to construct/articulate one's cultural identities.	2		2				4	16	teams; writing research-based academic essays, search for additional information and scientific literature on the internet.
5. Language policies in multilingual contexts. CERF as a tool for language policy making. Effective multilingual	2		2				4	16 education as a key means of contributing to the development of a learner as a social agent.

6. Multilingualism and migration .  Language challenges in migratory situations and different forms of institutional management of linguistic diversity.	2	2		4	14
7. Multilingualism in education . The complexity of multilingual education: learners' and teachers' perspectives. Provision of equal education opportunities and good quality education for all.	2	2		4	15
8. English and other languages online. Multilingual resources in online writing spaces. New multilingual encounters and translanguaging online.	2	2		4	10
Total:	16	16		32	101

A googgment stuctory	Weight	Deadline	A ggoggen out ouitouio
Assessment strategy	%		Assessment criteria
Research-based academic essay writing	20%	During the semester,	One written assignment
		Presented on the 9th week of the semester	<ul> <li>Compliance with methodological guidelines</li> <li>Content (personal argumentation developed based on two research articles)</li> <li>Structure (5 paragraphs: introduction, three body paragraphs, conclusion)</li> <li>Ability to formulate a thesis statement, supportive arguments</li> <li>Style and register</li> </ul>
Team research project – oral presentation	30%	End of the semester	<ul> <li>Relevance and educational value of the content</li> <li>Structure and cohesion</li> <li>Use of appropriate academic vocabulary</li> <li>Language accuracy</li> <li>Fluency and pronunciation</li> <li>Use of visual aids, pace, body language, rapport</li> </ul>
Examination (theoretical questions)	50%	End of the semester	The following aspects of work are evaluated: Direct answer to exam question (10%) Accuracy and clarity of answers (10%) Ability to refer to the literature analyzed during the course (10%) Ability to analyze, synthesize, evaluate (10%)  Each open-ended question is evaluated according to these criteria: 3 points — excellent knowledge. The topic is dealt with properly, the statements are grounded well, and examples are provided. 2 points — good knowledge, inessential mistakes occur. Some statements are grounded not sufficiently enough, some examples 1 point — average knowledge or the one satisfying minimum requirements; essential mistakes occur. The topic is not fully disclosed, statements are not properly substantiated, and examples are missing.
Attendance requirements	Compuls ory attendanc e of		Missed tutorials have to be accounted for within two weeks upon agreement with the lecturer.

seminars
(100%)

Author (-s)	Publishing	Title	Issue of a periodical or	Publishing house or
1144101 (5)	year		volume of a publication	web link
Required reading
Neuliep, J.W.	2006	Intercultural		SAGE Publications
		Communication. A		Ltd.
		Contextual Approach
Bhatiat, T. K., and Ritchie,	2014	The Handbook of		Oxford: Wiley-
W. C. (eds.)		Bilingualism and		Blackwell.
		Multilingualism (2nd edition).
	2018	Common European		© Council of Europe
		Framework of		https://rm.coe.int/cef
		Reference for		r-companion-
		Languages:		volume-with-new-
		learning, teaching,		descriptors-
		assessment.		2018/1680787989
		Companion volume		2010/1000/07/00
		with new descriptors.
Recommended reading
Barton, D., Lee, C.	2013	Language Online.		Routledge: Taylor
		Investigating Digital		&Francis Group,
		Texts and Practices.		London and New York
Yule, G.	2014	The Study of		Cambridge University
		Language. Fifth		Press
		edition.
Makoni, S., & Pennycook,	2012	From monological		The Routledge
A.		multilingualism to		handbook of
		multilingua francas.		multilingualism

2024-10-25